Profile

I am a hardworking and focused person with a love for learning and improving. I push myself with my work, always facing challenges, looking for solutions and new knowledge instead of giving up. I have experience in many types of art, since I was little I've played the flute and I love to draw on both computer and paper. I love experimenting with different mediums and programs, and can gladly learn new ones. I have sold a few pieces of art and logos on request. My passion is in prop and environment 3d modelling. I love building scenes that help tell a story, creating models and textures that work together for an immersive experience.
